HONORIOUS

A black and white line drawing of a woman holding a baby monkey. The woman has a large, rounded head with short hair, a wide smile, and is wearing a long, flowing robe. The baby monkey is sitting in her arms, looking forward with a neutral expression. The drawing is composed of simple black outlines on a white background. Numbers 1 through 8 are placed at various points on the drawing to indicate the sequence and direction of strokes for coloring. For example, '5' is at the top of the woman's head, '8' is near her eyes and mouth, '7' is on her chin and neck, '2' is on her shoulder, '3' is on her chest, '4' is on her arms and the monkey's body, '6' is on the monkey's ears and hands, and '1' is on the monkey's feet.

REBUS FUN

On a separate sheet of paper — in a straight line — write the words and letters that are to be added together. When you come to a word that is subtracted, cross out the letters of the word from the letters that you already have written. The letters that are left should spell the names of two characters in Planet of the Apes.
